LOUISIANA STATE UNIVERSITY IN SHREVEPORT

Six Faculty Named Outstanding for '71

Six LSU-S faculty members have been chosen Outstanding Educators of America for 1971, according to Dr. V. Gilbert Beers, OEA director. Nominated earlier this year, they were selected for the honor on the basis of their civic and professional achievements.

They are Dr. B. E. Tabarlet, associate professor and chairman of the Education and Psychology Department; Dr. T. A. Moss, associate professor of physics; Dr. R. L. Matlock, associate professor and chairman of the Physics Department.

Dr. Vincent J. Marsala, associate professor and chairman of the Social Sciences Department; Dr. Dalton Cloud, assistant professor and chairman of the Speech Department and Shirley Brown, assistant professor and chairman of the Foreign Languages Department.

Exceptional Service

Outstanding Educators of America is an annual awards program honoring distinguished men and women for their exceptional service, achievements and leadership in the field of education.

Each year those chosen outstanding educators are featured in a national awards volume, "Outstanding Educators of America."

Nominations

Nominations for the program are made by the officials of colleges and universities including presidents, deans and department heads.

Guidelines for selection include an educator's talents in the classroom, contributions to research, administrative abilities, civic service and professional recognition.

Two Appointed For Fall Faculty

Dean Donald E. Shipp has announced the appointment of two new faculty members for the fall semester.

James Mason Shelley, formerly an instructor of economics and finance at Louisiana Tech University, will teach business administration and management and Mrs. Barbara Purdy will teach business administration.

Arcadia Native

A native of Arcadia, La., Shelley received his B.S. degree in 1940 from the United States Military Academy at West Point, N.Y. In 1946, he received his B.S. degree in liberal arts from La. Tech.

He earned his M.B.A. degree from the University of Texas in 1951 and was graduated from the Air War College at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., in 1955.

In College

While in college, he was a member of Sigma Iota Epsilon, honorary management fraternity; Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary scholastic fraternity for business students; and Omicron Delta Epsilon, honorary economics fraternity.

Having served with the U.S. Air Force for 28 years, Shelley has held positions from second lieutenant to colonel.

He currently holds membership in the American Risk and Insurance Association and in the Air Force

Monroe Contractor Submits Low Bid For New Building

A low bid of $2,193,000 has been submitted for the new Liberal Arts Building by Jessie F. Heard and Sons of West Monroe. Other low bidders were Werner Co., Inc., $2,225,000, and McInnis Brothers of Minden, $2,264,000.

Completion of the building is expected sometime in late 1973. The 58 classroom building will contain some 115,200 square feet and will seat from 40 to 120 students in each classroom.

The new structure will also have departmental offices, 92 faculty offices, four seminar rooms, a speech correctional facility which will include conference and observation rooms, foreign language laboratories and a fine arts classroom.

The LSU-S literary magazine, Narcissus, is now accepting any poems, themes, short stories, essays and other creative works of originality for possible publication next spring.

Manuscripts may be submitted to either Narcissus editor, Tommy Atkins or Dr. McBride in Lib. 257.

"Roast the Faculty" Ideas Needed by Sigma Alpha

Sigma Alpha, LSU-S Speech and Hearing Club, will again sponsor a College Variety Show to be held during the second week of the spring semester. All interested writers, musicians, actors, dancers, etc. should begin preparing their acts, according to Mrs. Joan Harrington, speech instructor and Sigma Alpha sponsor.

A theme and scripts are needed. All promising comedy writers who would like to see their words brought to life may submit their scripts to the club as soon as possible. The deadline date for acceptance of scripts will be in November. Short scripts under 12 minutes in length are greatly desired; however, scripts of 45 minutes in length will be considered. There is an annual national contest for College Variety Show writers and music-lyric writers with prizes of about $500. Information concerning this may be obtained from Ida Kuun, president of Sigma Alpha.

Mrs. Joan Harrington, Lib. 241, will be pleased to accept the names of persons interested in organizing and performing in a dance group. She will aid in organizing the group, or students may organize their own separate dance groups and present their numbers during the try-outs at a later date.

All LSU-S clubs are asked to begin work on their acts if they desire to compete for the Sigma Alpha Outstanding Club Performance Trophy. The first recipient of this trophy was the Circle K Club which won the award for its skit entitled, "If Men Played Cards the Way Women Do."

One important aspect of the Spring Variety Show will be a section entitled "ROAST THE FACULTY." All students who have any zany ideas they have collected regarding the foibles of the faculty (or their favorite professors) are asked to share this with Sigma Alpha. Students who want to do impersonations of faculty members are also invited to audition. (Date to be announced later.) All students interested in this aspect of performance should begin collecting ideas immediately.

"Snack Shack" To Be Completed By Next Week

A $41,200 addition to the "Shack" is expected to be completed in about one week, according to Business Manager Dr. A. J. Howell.

The two 42'x24' wings and the vending machine room more than double the previous area of the building.

The entire building is now centrally air conditioned and heated.

Tables and chairs will be in one wing with the bookstore situated in the other wing. The present bookstore will be made into a seating area.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

Distinguished Lecturers Series
Friday, Sept. 24, 10 a.m., Allan Lazarus, Managing Editor, Shreveport Times.

Thursday, Oct. 14, 11 a.m., Victor Bussie.

Thursday, Oct. 28, 9:30 a.m., Dr. H. J. Sachs, English Dept., La. Tech.

18 Per Cent Increase Noted For Semester

A record 1,746 students have registered for the fall semester, according to Mrs. Fabia Thomas, registrar.

The total represents all regular and evening division students, but does not include those in the Division of Continuing Education.

The enrollment is a 19 per cent increase over last fall's 1,435. The former record was established in the fall of 1968 when 1,515 students registered.

Some 807 students signed up for courses in the fall of 1967, the school's first semester.

Since LSU-S opened, its total enrollment (fall, spring, summer) has steadily increased each year as shown by the following statistics: 1967-68: 2,193; 1968-69: 3,316; 1969-70: 3,517; 1970-71: 3,777; 1971-72: ?

School officials had expected 1,638 to register this semester.

The Political Action Committee of the Louisiana Student Association met with Gov. John McKeithen on July 6, to discuss the three per cent budget-cut imposed on higher education in Louisiana.

The committee was made up of student government presidents from state and private universities. Ray Allain, of The University of Southwestern Louisiana; Buddy Bouquet, of McNeese; Bruce Feingerts, of Tulane; Ralph Judge, of Southern University in New Orleans; and Steve Primos, of Louisiana State University in Shreveport attended the meeting. As of that day, neither the LSU Board of Supervisors nor the State Board of Education had taken any action on the budget-cut.

The committee presented its case to the governor in facts and asked that he restore the $3.8 million to higher education. Many of the so-called "pork-barrel" projects were cited as possible sources of revenue for the restoration. The State Fair Stadium project and raises for Louisiana sheriff's deputies were mentioned in particular.

After nearly an hour of discussion, Gov. McKeithen said he would begin a study immediately to find a way to restore the educational funds. He found a way and restored the money. The three per cent cut would have cost LSU-S $43,553, according to Dr. A. J. Howell, assistant dean of financial affairs.

The LSA took the initial action necessary to get the budget restored. Admittedly, this should not be the duty of student government presidents. The State Board of Education and the LSU Board of Supervisors should have been outspoken and demanded a complete restoration; they did not.

The LSA has the potential to be the most highly effective student organization in the state. It should promote and maintain programs beneficial to higher education and preserve the political enfranchisement of young people. The actions taken by this organization should always be in the best interest of those people it represents.

Legal aid should and must be maintained in order to guarantee that no action taken by the organization violates state or federal laws or the constitutional rights of any individual. The opinions of this association should not be considered those of any individual member and no member should be singled out for criticism. With the proper organization and financial support the LSA may well become a political force of great value. Total participation of the member institutions is necessary to overcome many of the problems confronting students in Louisiana.

—Steve Primos

America Is Sleeping!

America, it's time to wake up. For too many years we have allowed the federal government to gradually erode the power given to the states by our founding fathers. For too many years we have allowed the Supreme Court to ride roughshod over the land, doing as it pleases, regardless of cost.

For too many years we have allowed the police to be made the scapegoat for the rampant crime which has become a way of life in many parts of America. We as a nation have abdicated our responsibility to help our fellow man. The government has seen fit to take over this chore. We have become fat and apathetic, as did the Romans, and we shall go the way of Rome if we don't take heed.

What then can we do to re-establish some measure of control over our destiny? We can vote for and actively support those candidates who have the best interests of the people at heart. We can take an active role in the affairs of our community, and school. We can let our public servants know how we feel about the key issues of today. Wake up America, before it's too late.

—Ron McFerrin

JIMMIE H. DAVIS

Is He Our Sunshine?

Claiming that "he's one of us," 69 year-old Jimmie H. Davis is at it again. Campaigning on his past record, singing about no new taxes during either of his administrations and boasting of millions of dollars left in the state treasury, Davis has tossed his hat into the already crowded political arena.

Flashy red, white and blue billboards carrying slogans, "He never raised your taxes," and "He's one of us," set the stage for his campaign.

Plans to stop court-ordered school busing, if elected, highlight his stumping; however, he hasn't said exactly what his plan is.

If his plan is workable he could easily win the governor's race on its merits. If not, this boast may cost him the election.

Announcement

The Almagest accepts all letters to the editor for possible publication. In general, the letters must be signed and in good taste if serious consideration is expected. We welcome constructive remarks but have no time for the inane.

A Letter!

The SGA Election Board of 1971 has become aware of general inadequacies in the way the fall senator election has been conducted. The lack of publicity resulted in only 17 applications for the vacant offices. This resulted in five offices being left unfilled. Only one poster was noted announcing filing dates for the election although the present SGA officers were encouraged by their adviser to have other posters made as early as July.

We feel that these paid, elected officials have an obligation to make the students aware of the opportunity to run for office. These officials were elected under the new SGA Constitution last spring, in large part, because of the need to have preparations completed for the fall election. Because the filing dates for offices are constitutionally the first week of school, preparations for the elections must be made during the summer. However, these preparations were plainly not carried out. Although we are please (sic) that our SGA officers are active in Louisiana politics, we feel that their first concern should be fulfilling (sic) the duties of the offices to which they were elected.

The student members of the Election Board recommended (sic) to the Dean that:

(1) SGA should be run so that it serves the student body.

(2) The students must be better informed of student activities and those areas in which he (sic) can participate and thus better serve his (sic) SGA and fellow students.

Every Vote Counts

Recently the 26th Amendment to the United States Constitution was ratified, granting the voting franchise to those between the ages of 18 and 20.

For years this segment of our population has argued that they are old enough to die in combat, but not old enough to vote. However, now that they have won the franchise, many of them do not see fit to register, and so will be unable to vote in the upcoming elections. Many of those 18 to 20 feel that the vote is ineffective and accomplishes nothing; therefore they involve themselves in activities that will bring change faster.

Some simply say that politics and government do not concern them. The argument is sometimes expressed that candidates for major offices, such as President of the United States, are chosen by political conventions, where the voices of the young fall on deaf ears; therefore, they have no voice in choosing the candidates. And finally, one hears the argument, "My vote would not matter, one way or the other."

Every citizen counts. Every vote counts. Perhaps if the great majority of 18 to 20 year olds would register, their voices would fall on sympathetic ears. Apathy is the answer to nothing.

The Chief Deputy Registrar of Voters for Caddo Parish estimates that as of Sept. 1, about 3,000 of 14,000 citizens between the ages of 18 and 20, residing in Caddo Parish, have registered to vote. He said that about 100 persons register daily, 80 per cent of these between the ages of 18 and 20. These figures are encouraging, but where are the 11,000 who have not registered?

Louisianians are presently observing the candidates offering themselves for the major state elective offices. The upcoming election is shaping up as one of the most critical in the history of Louisiana, and of vital interest to the younger citizens. Recent speakers here at LSU-S have said that if the great majority of 18 to 20 year olds registered and voted as a block, they could control Louisiana's politics. So, if you desire to effect change, exercise your franchise. Register to vote and then cast your ballot. Your vote does count, and it will!

—George Lawrence

Busing is Popular Now

It is not that the President is directly responsible for busing and all its headaches; but the fact that it occurred during his administration—that could cost him quite a number of votes next year. The fact that Nixon hasn't acted, or has hardly even commented on the subject of desegregation could very well cost him a second term in the White House.

Such incidents as those occurring in Pontiac, Mich., indicate that the people in the so-called "silent-majority" have suddenly acquired very loud voices, and the news media is providing sufficient publicity for the ever growing cause.

Whether or not the President acts on the situation is, of course, his own decision, but he would most certainly do well to avoid being unpopular on popular issues at this time.

—James Henley

Romanian Teacher Needs Books....

Tudor E. Besuan, a Romanian English teacher, finds it difficult to obtain English written books in Romania. Besuan attended the Oxford Summer School this year on a British scholarship.

According to Miss Marilyn Gibson, an LSU-S English instructor, who also attended the summer session in England, the Romanian Government allowed Besuan to attend only three weeks of the six-week course. He wasn't allowed to bring any money with him either, said Miss Gibson. Besuan needs any old books, particularly those dealing with adventure, mystery, drama and everyday life. These books are for his students—age 16 and above. There are some exceptions, however; Animal Farm, Brave New World and 1984 are taboo.

Besuan also wants to encourage pen-pals for his Romanian students. Remember, Romania is behind the Iron Curtain and all letters are subject to be censored. Please don't advocate revolution? All books should be taken to the SGA office, Sci. 122, or Miss Gibson's office, Lib. 253.

Letters should be sent to: TUDOR E. BESUAN, C L U S, STR. 123 SEPTEMBRIE NO. 6, TIMISOARA, ROMANIA.

ALMAGEST needs editorial cartoonist. If interested, please contact John Tabor, Sci. 111, or Elizabeth Lott, Sci. 327.

SGA News

Student Government elections were scheduled for yesterday and today. A treasurer will be selected for the executive council. All student senate positions are vacant. Senators will be chosen according to class and apportioned on a basis of one senator per 100 students. There will be senators from all classes including juniors and seniors if there are any who qualify. The first senate meeting will be held Sept. 29 or 30.

LSU-S is a member of the Louisiana Student Association. LSA has declared Sept. 13 - 17 Voter Registration Week. This is a state-wide effort to register as many students as possible before the Oct. 5 deadline. However, this effort is not restricted to students alone. The SGA will try to get U. Charles Mitchell, the registrar of voters for Caddo Parish, to come on campus to register those who have not registered. "However, do not wait for Mr. Mitchell. He may not come. Remember, to vote in the Nov. 6 primary; one has to register before Oct. 5 when the books will be closed," Steve Primos, SGA president said.

The dance scheduled for tomorrow has been cancelled because of a general lack of interest. A dance will be held early in October if possible, Primos declared.

Registration Creates Multitude of Problems

By JOAN HARRINGTON

The student, new to LSU-S, suffers during registration. He is overwhelmed, at times, by the hub-bub and confusion. Confronting him is a multitude of minor problems that build rapidly into a mountain of anxiety.

The following is a list of a few of the problems discussed frequently by beginning freshman and transfer students and some of the solutions offered.

Problem: Not enough helpers on duty to advise "how it's done" and "where to go next."

Army in Action

Solution: Add more helpers. Put an army into action—composed of members of the various LSU-S clubs; or just one club in particular.

Problem: Can't identify helpers. They merge with the rest of the ignorant masses, so new people ask other new people for information and pandemonium prevails.

Solution: Have helpers wear something spectacular that will help new people know "who has the word." Ribbons or buttons will do the trick—or each club could wear its own colors and emblems.

Problem: Can't tell the teachers from the students—the teachers look so young or the students so old.

Fire Cute Teachers

Solution: (1) Fire all the cute, young teachers, or (2) have teachers wear snowshoes or (3) label all teachers with a big button saying "teach."

Problem: Rest room among the lost—not found; Students waltzing weirdly through the halls.

Solution: Inflated balloons should be attached around frames of RR doors so new students can locate these quickly.

Problem: Can't find the Science Building.

Solution: Names on the buildings.

Problem: Can't find classrooms, stairs to upper floors, can't find Science Lecture Auditorium.

Helium Balloons

Solution: Besides using clearly labeled helpers—maps should be issued at entrance. This door should be marked by a helium filled balloon, so students arriving on the parking lot can spy it instantly.

Problem: After classes start, the new student's problems continue as he stumbles around the Library and Science Buildings—trying to locate classes, staircases and the library door.

Solution: Again the maps issued to the students during registration, could help solve this after registration problem.

Students with other problems needing solutions should bring them to the staff of the Almagest. The solutions may not be practical, but at least they will be original.

Library Plans New Exhibits

The library schedule of exhibits for the fall semester at LSU-S, is tentatively complete, Mrs. Dorcas McCormick, senior librarian, has announced. Some exhibits for the spring semester are also set.

Replacing a current glassware exhibit and the traveling Louisiana Watercolor Show on Monday, Sept. 27 will be a display based on a summer field trip, sponsored by the LSU-S Biology Club. The new show will run through Oct. 22.

Other Exhibits

Other exhibits and art shows are scheduled for the following dates:

Barksdale Air Force Base Arts and Crafts Shop Art Show, Oct. 11–Nov. 5; pottery by David Middleton, Oct. 25–Nov. 19; macrame by Betty Wallace, Nov. 8–24.

Art Show

Art show by Mrs. Alton Sartor, Feb. 14–Mar. 10; journalism exhibit by John R. Tabor, supervisor of LSU-S information services, Feb. 14–Mar. 10; art show by Betty Friedenburg, Mar. 13–April 14.

Mrs. McCormick said she also hopes to have a National Library Week exhibit for Mar. 13–April 14 and a Holiday in Dixie display April 21–May 26.

Scheduled for the fall of 1972 are separate one-day art shows by Joe Gibson and Jasimine Morlock, Mrs. McCormick added.

The LSU-S library is open to the public from 7:45 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Mondays through Thursday and from 7:45 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Fridays.

Emotions Flow Out of Cocker

By STEVE PRIMOS

Love, fear and respect the Mad Dog. He is Joe Cocker. With a contorted face, wild rolling eyes and spastic uncontrolled motion and emotion, Joe Cocker releases all the pitted-up emotion that stifles the soul of human existence. Joe Cocker is the king of blues-rock music. Offensive and raw, his style and fervor captures the audience and carries them from one song to another. From the innocent childish grins of "She Came in Thru the Bathroom Window" to the tears of "A Little Help From My Friends," Cocker rapes the audience again and again.

The chorus and musicians of his 42-member band follow his every move, crying and laughing as the mood is created. They too, are caught up in the flood of emotion pouring out of Joe Cocker.

Leon Russel, on lead guitar, is surrounded by an almost visible stillness. Intense, yet never emotional, he directs the band tearing emotions from the audience. Leon Russel is frightening. He controls an audience with a relaxed, unsmiling ease too powerful to describe.

The film is a character study of Joe Cocker and his communal family band in concert. A few songs performed live include: "Delta Lady," "Space Captain," "The Letter," "Feel in Alright," "Honky Tonk Woman," and "Give Peace a Chance." "Mad Dogs and Englishmen," is the best two-hour, two-dollar concert in town.

ADMIRING THE ROSES in the quad of Exeter College at Oxford University is Miss Marilyn Gibson, English instructor.

Marilyn Gibson Studies at Oxford

By PAM PARRISH

Miss Marilyn Gibson, English instructor, was honored to attend the International Graduate Summer School this past summer at Oxford University. The summer school covered history, literature and society of England, 1870 to 1970. "This trip was the most significant educational experience of my life," she said.

Miss Gibson was recommended by the Institute of International Education and received a scholarship to attend from the local chapter of the English Speaking Union. She was one of 140 accepted out of 1400 applications from 15 countries.

Class of Six

During a six-week period the students attended two lectures daily, an evening seminar, wrote two papers and read 12 novels. The evening seminar was held to cover these novels. Miss Gibson described these seminars as the most interesting sessions, because her class consisted of only six students: one from Spain, Germany, France, Greece, Hungary and herself.

Also included were two week-end excursions: one to Eastwood in Nottinghamshire near Sherwood Forest, and one to Dorset. On the first weekend, she visited a few of the places used as settings in the novels by D. H. Lawrence and attended a reading of Byron's poetry at his home at Newstead Abbey near Nottingham. At Dorset she primarily visited the places used as settings in Thomas Hardy's works.

Most Interesting

Of the students attending, Miss Gibson "thought the most interesting were those from behind the Iron Curtain, especially the Hungarian."

Having received a diploma, she will use this as credit towards her doctorate degree. She has earned additional credits toward the doctorate at Stephen F. Austin.

Almagest Gains Four New Members For Fall

Five students have been named to the fall semester Almagest staff, according to John R. Tabor, newspaper advisor.

Returning as editor-in-chief is Mrs. Elizabeth Lott, a junior journalism major from McDade.

Assisting Mrs. Lott are four replacements for 1970-71 staff members Don Moss, Alison Crenshaw, Cathy Lewis and Michael Freed.

Promoted from reporter to feature editor is Tommy Atkins, a sophomore who also edits the campus literary magazine, the Narcissus.

SGA president Steve Primos, a junior, is the new assistant to the editor. Primos handles the editorials.

In charge of advertising and circulation is Carolyn Copple, a freshman business major who graduated from Northwood with a 3.7 grade average.

Michael Ashbaker replaces Freed as the Almagest photographer.

Association.

For One Year

Mrs. Purdy, who will teach at LSU-S for one year, was born in Jennings and attended Louisiana State University. She received her B.S. degree in 1957 and her M.Ed. degree in 1971.

At LSU, she held membership in Phi Kappa Phi, Kappa Delta Pi and Delta Psi Kappa.

She is presently a member of the Louisiana Teachers Association and the Louisiana Business Education Association.

Baptist Group Plans Activities

By KARLA BUTLER

Does tutoring children appeal to you? Or do rap sessions on everything from "Situation Ethics" to the "Jesus Revolution" sound more like your bag? Whichever you choose, the Baptist Student Union can provide it.

Retreats, Bible raps, prayer groups, and various social activities make up a lively involvement for those in the BSU.

Lunch Encounter

Here at LSU-S, BSU has two discussion programs, the Lunch Encounter which meets every Wednesday at noon, and the Vital Issues Program which meets every Monday at 11 a.m.

A meeting place is, as yet, undetermined.

Some subjects discussed in the programs are: "I Am a Person—Please Do Not Fold, Spindle, or Mutilate," "Conscience on Campus" and "God and the Scientific Revolution."

Ernie Roberson, Christian Growth chairman for the LSU-S chapter, feels that the BSU has become increasingly important since it "provides an organization that offers something to college students by relating Christianity to them."

Enlarges Scope

He adds that because of this the BSU is trying to enlarge its scope to include the students who otherwise would not be attracted to BSU.

Some future plans include constructing a Baptist Student Union multi-purpose religious complex which will supplement present social facilities and provide room for organizations to meet on campus.

For additional BSU information, persons may contact Ernie Roberson in the Student Government office.

116 Summer Students Named to Dean's List

Some 116 students have been named to the Dean's List for the summer semester, according to Mrs. Fabia Thomas, registrar.

To make the honor roll, students must compile a semester grade average no lower than 3.5 or "B" plus. Some 1,302 students carried a total of 3,084 hours this summer and earned 7,213 quality points for a student body 2.399 grade point average.

Straight "A"

Of the total, 47 made perfect 4.0, straight "A" average: Eleanor K. Arceneaux, Katherine D. Askew, Darrel D. Basin, Becky J. Balentine, Becky C. Ball, Frank N. Birdsell, Kathryn M. Blair, Jimmy L. Chalk, Peggy J. Cloud, George W. Cowart, Alison R. Crenshaw, Patricia A. Davis, Doris R. Ebersole, Jeanette K. Giddens, Gwendolyn H. Havens, Miles T. Holladay, Katherine J. Hutchine, Freddie D. King, James S. King, Mary C. Kromis, Harriette L. Lawler, Clyde W. Lightfoot.

Sharon McAvoy, Colleen A. McDaniell, Marcia A. McLaughlin, Carol A. Noble, Sheryl H. Parker, Nancy K. Peak, John W. Powell, Joan P. Schaefer, Sally B. Scott, Mary E. Settle, Robert D. Simmons, Maurice A. Smith, Joseph A. Sonnier, Laurie S. Taber, Elsa A. Van Thyn, Linda R. Waters, Charlotte A. Weaver, Lynn K. Brown, June L. Deason, Catherine F. Hill, Joseph E. Watkins, Larry E. Wilson, Marilyn M. Brumley, William R. Fair III, and Edna L. Hanvey.

B-Plus Averages

Students who scored between 3.5 and 3.9 are: Worley A. Barnes, Judith G. Bell, Stephen L. Berry, Ann Bodenheimer, Woody D. Branton, Donald D. Brown, Jr., Donald W.

Bush, Karla H. Butler, Robert L. Carleton, Harley R. Colbert, Jr., Randall K. Colvin, Margaret M. Craddock, Larry A. Dye, Claire M. Goldsworthy, Andrea J. Graham, Lindsay J. Hadra, Celema J. Harris, Norma S. Harris, Janet J. Harriss.

John P. Hart, Yvonne T. Healey, Barbara J. Kidd, Mary L. Kirk, Cynthia R. Lindenmayer, Edgar R. Lolley, Aletha C. Maffett, John W. Marshall, Edward E. Mathes, Elsa B. McCain, C. P. Middleton, Jr., Kathleen O. Mitchell, William C. Monroe, William G. Nader, Mary J. Nolen, Michael H. O'Brien, Victoria A. Palmer, John M. Richardson, Michael L. Robinson, Robert H. Rosenwasser, Frances S. Rouchon, Elaine L. Shipp, Deborah N. Shivers, Kathleen Smith, Craig R. Springmeyer, Claude T. Starkey, Jr., Julia Turner, Charles C. Tutt.

James A. Vardeman, Jere M. Welborn, Betty A. Wyatt, Martin H. Zelinsky, Fern E. Waller, Barbara D. Barksdale, Ronald W. Couch, Edwin G. Fulgham, Jammie L. Harris, Earlyne P. Lehnertz, George W. Mandeville, Connie K. Miller, Billy J. Van Sandt, Edgar A. Wright.

Gloria E. Jernigan, Pamela D. Palma, Reecie A. Bowers, Lynn T. Crawford, Patricia W. Flenniken, John R. Gregory, John C. McElroy and Michael C. Marek.

Biology Club Shows Slides Of Expedition

The organizational meeting of the Biology Club, Lambda Sigma Upsilon, was held Wednesday, Sept. 8. Color slides of the club's trip last May and June to Colorado and New Mexico were shown. Officers are to be elected at the meeting next week.

Mrs. Dorothy Hubble and Dr. Laurence Hardy, assistant professors of biological sciences, are sponsors of the Biology Club. The purposes of the club are to collect specimens for use in the biology department and to give the members actual experience working in the field. Guest speakers are frequently brought in to speak on various topics of interest chosen by the members.

Requirements for membership in Lambda Sigma Upsilon are an interest in biology and one semester of biological science, or registration in a biological science course. Interested students who missed the first meeting should attend the next meeting, according to Mrs. Hubble.

Fall Football To Kick Off September 20

Intramural flag football is slated to begin the week of Sept. 20, according to Dr. James D. Bates, associate professor of health and physical education. Teams of no less than seven players nor more than 15 players were to submit their rosters to Dr. Bates in Lib. 231, by Sept. 14.

Several campus organizations are expected to field teams. Individuals wishing to field a team without organizational affiliation may have their captain contact Dr. Bates in Lib. 231 for information.

Each member of the championship team will be awarded a medal at the end of the season.

Games this year will be played on Mondays and Wednesdays, instead of Tuesdays and Thursdays as previously, because of a lack of officials on the latter two days.

Discussions are taking place between Dr. Bates and the director of the Centenary College intramural program in an attempt to pit the football champions of LSU-S against the champions of Centenary.

Two-Year Degree Set in Business

A new program is being offered to office administration students at LSU-S this fall. A two-year program, an associate degree in secretarial science, is now offered. The program was recently approved by the Coordinating Council on Higher Education in Louisiana.

The new two-year program will provide the necessary education for graduates to enter secretarial positions. It provides full college credit and is transferable to a four-year degree program.

The business student also has the advantage of association with future employers through the Business Administration Department's speaker program and through faculty contacts with local businesses.

This program is also available to students in the Evening Division.

Dr. Thomas Moss

$9,000 Grant

Dr. T. A. Moss, associate professor of physics, has been awarded a third National Aeronautics and Space Administration grant of $9,000 following last year's grant of $10,400. In 1969 Dr. Moss was awarded more than $8,000.

Of the current grant, LSU will contribute $4,000.

Dr. Moss' grant will enable him to continue theoretical research into the propagation and origin of cosmic ray particles.

He will publish his findings in the proton studies in the "Astrophysical Journal," the chief publication of the Astrophysical Society, July 15.

The LSU-S educator earned his B.S. degree from Louisiana Tech and his M.S. and Ph.D. degrees from LSU-Baton Rouge.

Dr. Moss was a senior nuclear physicist at General Dynamics Corp. in Fort Worth from 1957-1961. He taught at the Baton Rouge campus and at Northeast Louisiana State College.

He joined the local faculty in 1968 after one summer at NASA in Houston where he conducted research on cosmic radiation.

Nancy Hutson

Master of Arts

Mrs. Nancy Ann Hutson, English instructor, recently received a master of arts degree in English from Louisiana Tech University.

Mrs. Hutson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul K. Waddell of 3132 Green Terrace, also holds a B.S. degree in secondary education from Centenary College (1962) and an M. Ed. degree in secondary education from the University of Arkansas (1967).

The Byrd High School graduate maintained a perfect 4.0, straight-A, grade average at Tech.

Now teaching freshman English at LSU-S for her fourth year, Mrs. Hutson also taught in the Caddo Parish public school system for six years.

She taught freshman English at Oak Terrace Junior High School and junior English at Woodlawn.

Mrs. Hutson is a member of Sigma Tau Delta, national honorary English fraternity and Kappa Kappa Iota, national teacher's sorority.

William McCleary

William McCleary, senior librarian, has received a certificate of Advanced Studies degree in library science from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. The certificate represents 32 semester hours beyond the master's degree.

McCleary holds a B.A. degree from Centenary College and M.A. and M.S. degrees from LSU-Baton Rouge.

He was formerly a librarian at Shreve Memorial Library and at Union Producing Co. McCleary has been reference librarian at LSU-S since the school opened in 1967.

Dr. George Kemp

3-year Term

Dr. George A. Kemp, associate professor of psychology, has been elected to a three-year term of service on the governing Council of One Hundred of the American Psychological Association.

Dr. Kemp represented psychologists from Louisiana and Arkansas at the annual meeting of the association and at a council meeting in Washington, D. C. recently.

Kemp is past president of the Louisiana Psychological Association and is currently president of the executive board of the Louisiana Academy of Sciences.

He holds membership in a number of professional and scientific organizations and has published in several scientific journals. He is listed in "Leaders in Education," "American Men of Science," "Who's Who in the South and Southwest," and the "Dictionary of International Biography."

15 Students Earn Credit In Advanced Program

Fifteen local and area students have earned a total of 105 semester hours of college credit by passing Advanced Standing Examinations at LSU-S, according to Dr. Gary K. Brashier, assistant dean for academic affairs.

The program enables students of superior ability to receive credit for various courses by earning a grade of C or higher on examinations, Dr. Brashier said. They will officially receive credit for the courses when they enroll in the LSU system.

Earning a total of 23 hours was Byrd graduate Jon Engelage, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Engelage of 822 Kimbrough. Carla Maria Lehnertz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lehnertz of 2502 N. Waverly in Bossier City, gained credit for 16 hours. She is a graduate of Airline High School.

Four students, including Engelage and Lehnertz, were awarded credit in English 1B, composition, automatically by scoring high on the American College Test.
